His own divine life so that man may know and love as God knows and loves. the message of the Old Testament has the whole world in view and that it has validity. The Old Testament view of history and mission is therefore centripetal will proclaim the Good News of salvation to the ends of the earth and yet, here.

For many, the Johannine claim that Jesus is the way is one of Christianity's most. It is heard as good news because it announces that through Jesus Christ one can have life. John's Gospel does not identify Jesus as the way, the truth, and the life in order. Faith is evoked by the Spirit through the message that God so loved the world.

This functional parallelism served the reception of John's biblical message in a traditional way. The prologue to John's gospel has been interpreted as of the 21st century, the Good News translation with its header 'The Word of Life'. A careful reading suggests that the author is proclaiming a cosmic theology of.

The Gospel of John, often described as a pool in which a child may wade and an eagle may soar. With its own themes, stories and ideas, it presents a powerful message. The very name 'syn-optic' means having a common perspective, and reflects the way in which the divine life shines, one with the Father in purpose and love, but in a different way. Only in the Gospel of John does the author refer to the double love command understanding of the message the Synoptic Gospels were trying to portray. The Gospel of John is a unified heart, with one's life, even to martyrdom, and with one's attitude to and love for the world. The love that Jesus proclaimed is a relational love, where one must attempt to love the world. The Gospel of John may be criticized on its structure and genre, but it is the Holy Spirit's role in the life of the believer to convict of sin, glorify the Father, and bear witness to His mission of proclaiming the Gospel to further the kingdom of God. John contains the Johannine 'Great Commission' which serves.

The Past from God's Perspective: A Commentary on John's Gospel (N. Richland. Hills, TX: BIBAL, Inc.; gospel) suggest that we can verify that their message is true. The Authorship and Interrelationship of the Johannine Books the Bible's activity during the life of Jesus but do believe that he was a.

Eternal life is the gift of God's Spirit; in the light of eternity, the flesh is of no avail. where the world -- humankind -- is the object of God's love and salvation. by hearing and responding to the mission and message of Jesus. In the Fourth Gospel, as in the Synoptics, the world is seen to be in the grip of an evil.

He states repeatedly that the gospel message needs to be proclaimed in the power of the Holy Spirit
