

The Spanish city of Barcelona is home to some of the most challenging architecture on the planet. Featuring many examples of Gaudi's best work alongside masterworks by international architects including Mies van der Rohe, Josep Lluís Sert, Rafael Moneo, Luis Barragan, Arata Isozaki, Arup & Partners, Richard Meier and Jean Nouvel, the city is now one of the primary destinations for architecture tourists everywhere. In this page-turner of an architecture and urban-planning book, renowned architect and critic Peter G. Rowe, whose work focuses on the evolving cultural conditions of modernity in the built environment, singles out key buildings and historical milestones that have helped to mold the city.
