This booklet allows CreateSpace Community self-publishers to see precisely how a set of calibrated colors are rendered in a print-on-demand book produced by this provider. It contains the 139 unique SVG/X11 Named Colors, each with corresponding RGB decimal color codes, CMYK percentage values, and printed color samples/swatches. This can be a helpful tool for self-publishers who are using print-on-demand for a color project for the first time. By comparing the color swatches in this reference booklet to (a) the same colors as rendered by your computer, and (b) the same colors in a commercial printers 4-color Process Guide for uncoated paper, you can see the degree to which any color shifts occur. This booklet also contains four professional color images (two photographs and two vector art pieces) to demonstrate the capabilities and limitations of the color digital presses used for print-on-demand books, plus a test print image showing CMYK and RGB color gradients in 1% steps on the front and back covers.
