

What if an infectious contagion struck the US tomorrow that was so deadly, one out of every two people who contracted the virus died? What if the ensuing pandemic interrupted utilities, devastated our economy and brought a halt to everyday food and resources? What if there was no known cure for the infection and a vaccine would take at least 6 months to develop? HOW WOULD YOU SURVIVE? This book examines the deadly strain known as the H5N1, Avian Bird Flu virus and suggests simple ways to help you and your loved ones survive this impending disaster. Experts now agree that its no longer a matter of if it will strike, just a matter of when.
