

Excerpt from Origen the Preacher: Being Fifty Short Sermon Notes Founded Upon Select Passages From His Writings Origen was born at Alexandria, A.D. 185. Leonidas his father, a man both of fortune and position, an ardent Christian and a lover of learning, instructed his son in the Holy Scriptures from his earliest years, causing him to commit to memory and recite some passage of Holy Writ every day. This pious seed was sown in a most kindly and fertile soil. The child was ever thinking upon that which he both read and learned, diving into the abstruser senses of the text (Euseb. Eccles. Hist. lib. vi. c. 2), and delighting the soul of a father who in word mildly rebuked, but in heart rejoiced over the thoughtful and profound reasonings of the boy. Leonidas would frequently visit the couch of his son whilst he slept, and uncovering the breast of Origen would reverently kiss it, regarding it as a shrine consecrated by the Divine Spirit.
