

Paul Illman covers everything VFR pilots need to know to communicate with confidence from the cockpit. Pilots will find the latest information on new FAA airspace reclassifications, requirements for Mode C transponders in Class B (TCA) airspace, and the consolidation of Flight Service Stations into regional Automated Flight Service Stations. Readers also find new material on radio communications procedures for in-flight emergencies, pilot responsibilities in and around controlled airports, and comparisons of radio procedures for the various kinds of terminal airspace. Illman uses examples to show the right and wrong way to communicate with ground-based services.
