

This book is a translation for the language of pain. You will read touching and sad stories of suffering. This book could be what you've been praying for, or may be the path to healing you've been seeking. Bobbie became a victim of low-back disability in her mid twenties. Medical declared her disability permanent and stationary at 70%. When discharged she was told "this is the way you're going to be the rest of your life, and oh, don't exercise; you could hurt yourself even more." Defeated, she stayed in bed drinking and taking drugs for a year. She said, "It's not that I wanted to die, I just didn't want to live any more." Unwilling to give up, Bobbie's quest to find answers taught her she needed to "get in touch with her pain" and many of her conditions dated back to infancy and childhood. Bobbie forced herself out of bed and into life. She entered the field of clinical healing as a deep-tissue massage therapist and certified reflexologist. She has treated thousands of "broken bodies and minds" and learned more about her own dysfunctions by listening to her patients. This book shares the results of her quest.
